

Thomas Harker

President, Building Zone Industries

Thomas Harker is the President of Building Zone Industries. One of the company's earliest employees, Thomas began his career in Southern Utah working on pole barns and pre-engineered buildings before rising through nearly every role in the organization, from field hand, foreman, superintendent, and regional manager.

With a career spanning structural steel, pre-engineering, and specialty welding projects, Thomas brings firsthand field experience and a deep understanding of construction operations to his leadership. As President, he now oversees company-wide strategy and execution, ensuring BZI delivers safe, efficient, and high-quality projects while supporting the teams who make it all possible.
